

ISSN 0250-3980

Volume 53 Number 1 2013

SERICOLOGIA

Journal of Silkworms
A Quarterly Publication of International Sericultural Commission

Contents

Volume 53 Number 1 2013

Review Paper

- Eri culture with special reference to rearing and seed technologies
Y. Debaraj, Ravindra Singh, T. K. Biswas and B. B. Bindroo 01

Technical Papers

- Sustainable design in the bridalwear industry of Izmir through reuse of local silk fabrics
E. O. Adanir, S. Kuleli, O. D. Gökner and A. Kuleli 10
- Silk production in Latin American regions – constraints & the way forward
J. G. Berdu Jr and M. F. Pereira 15

Research Papers

- Evaluation of resistance mechanisms of mulberry cultivars through component analysis of aecial infection cycle of mulberry red rust (Aecidium mori Barclay)
T. Gonzales Angelina and S. Opina Oscar 24
- Susceptibility of silkworm races to Bombyx mori nucleopolyhedrovirus
R. Murakami and K. Miyamoto 33
- The tailorability of soft silk fabrics
Jameela Khatoon, T. H. Somashekhar, Arindam Basu and Y. C. Radhalakshmi 37
- Impact of legume green mulching on soil physico-chemical condition of rain-fed tropical tasar silkworm food-plant fields
R. Manohar Reddy, Ram Kumar, Suresh Rai, B. S. Angadi and V. Sivaprasad 43
- Effect of application of different sources and levels of lime in soil on the leaf yield of rain-fed mulberry in the acid red soils of Eastern Ghat highland zone of Odisha, India
K. M. Purohit, R. N. Datta, B. D. Dash, R. Sahu, B. B. Bindroo and N. K. Das 49
- Role of bacteria (Streptococcus faecalis & Staphylococcus aureus), viruses and their combined infection in causation of flacherie under different environmental conditions
T. Selvakumar and R. K. Datta 54
- Production of compost from mulberry shoots using ligno-cellulolytic fungi and its impact on growth and yield of mulberry
V. Nishitha Naik, P. M. Pratheesh Kumar, D. D. Sharma, B. R. Dayakar Yadav and S. M. H. Qadri 63