

I.D.

Programa de
Diseño
019

Plus,
Chuck Hoberman's
Kinetic World
page 60

PLAYTIME IS NOT OVER

Features

36 Blast Off

San Francisco's Astro Studios takes aim at the next generation of video-game gear.
 By Tim McKeough

44 Nowheresville, U.S.A.

Transit planner Neil Greenberg solves real problems in an imaginary city.
 By Michael Silverberg

48 Sound Ideas

Modular music-making platforms are changing the way we think of the musical instrument—and building communities in the process.
 By Daron Murphy

52 Recess, Rethought

A host of designers is building interactive landscapes for kids to learn by having fun.
 By Alissa Walker

58 If You Render It, They Will Come

Collaborative design software pushes stadium architecture to new heights.
 By William Bostwick

60 Spheres of Influence

Chuck Hoberman's Expanding Video Screen for U2 ups the ante for transformable design.
 By Lisa Delgado

68 Toy Stories

Our favorite designers remember their favorite toys.

By William Bostwick, Ian Volner, Eva Hagberg, and Jesse Ashlock

On the cover: (Clockwise from left) The Flying Spaghetti Monster by Comet Skateboards, the Meyerhoffer by Modern Longboards, the A40 Audio System by Astro Studios, a bamboo bike frame by Calfee, and the Xbox controller by Astro Studios

Cover shot by Mark Weiss, a Brooklyn-based photographer. His website is www.markweissphotography.com

Departments

6 ...update

Developments in I.D. stories from SEPTEMBER/OCTOBER 2008

9 ...note

Don't forget to PLAY
By Jesse Ashlock

11 ...expo

*MAYA LIN follows Lewis and Clark
Biodegradable KIDS' FURNITURE
Playing chess with JAIME HAYÓN*

16 ...q+a

FRANK LANTZ's bigger, better games
Interview by Jesse Ashlock

18 ...rant

The problem with today's TOYS
By Dalton Conley

20 ...trend

VIDEO GAMES chill out
By Josh Ostroff

22 ...market

A SKATEBOARD for the people
By Philip Nobel

24 ...campus

RISD studies CRANIUM
By Jesse Ashlock

26 ...scape

BOWLING green in Brooklyn
By David Sokol

28 ...chart

Revolutionary BIKE designs
By Tim McKeough

29 ...n+n

*Kari Merkl's recycled POT RACK
Will Alsop's nu-rave WATCHES
Digital GADGETS from Lego*

77 ...crit

Product: MEYERHOFFER SURFBOARD
(Reviewed by Allan Weisbecker)
Software: BLURB
(Reviewed by Dan Nadel)
Exhibition: RON ARAD
(Reviewed by Mark Lamster)
Product: YOOSTAR
(Reviewed by Cliff Kuang)

88 ...anatomy

The RUBIK'S CUBE, square by square
By Michael Silverberg

The MyAnimo chair and A4 screen by Sweden's Argue Design are made out of polyester felt from plastic bottles. (See "Expo," page 12).